ABOUT RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE

Ronald McDonald House Canada is a national charity that supports families with seriously ill or injured children by helping them stay close to the medical care their child needs. When families must travel far from home to access specialized pediatric treatment, Ronald McDonald House provides a welcoming place for them to stay together during an incredibly difficult time.

More than just accommodation, Ronald McDonald House offers meals, wellness programs, and a supportive community that helps reduce the emotional, physical, and financial stress families often face while their child is receiving treatment. By working closely with hospitals across Canada, Ronald McDonald House helps ensure families can remain near their child's care — something that research shows leads to better health outcomes for children.

Each year, Ronald McDonald House supports families from thousands of communities across Canada, ensuring that when a child needs medical care, their family can be there every step of the way.

WHY RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE?

At DDL & Co., supporting Ronald McDonald House is deeply personal to our team. One of our employees experienced firsthand the incredible impact this organization has on families when their child required ongoing care at McMaster Children's Hospital.

During a very difficult and uncertain time, Ronald McDonald House provided a welcoming place for their family to stay close to their child while navigating hospital visits and treatments.

Having that support system allowed them to focus on what mattered most — being together as a family. Because of this experience, Ronald McDonald House holds a special place in our hearts, and we are proud to host this event to help ensure other families facing similar challenges receive the same comfort, care, and support.
